- 17.1 Bids must be delivered by the Closing Time. The Closing Time may be extended by the DBSA in its absolute discretion by providing written notice to Bidders.
- 17.2 Bids delivered after the Closing Time or lodged at a location or in a manner that is contrary to that specified in this RFP will be disqualified from the Tendering Process and will be ineligible for consideration. However, a late Bid may be accepted where the Bidder can clearly demonstrate (to the satisfaction of the DBSA, in its sole discretion) that late lodgement of the Bid was caused by the DBSA; that access was denied or hindered in relation to the physical tender box; or that a major/critical incident hindered the delivery of the Bid and, in all cases, that the integrity of the Tendering Process will not be compromised by accepting a Bid after the Closing Time.
- 17.3 The determination of the DBSA as to the actual time that a Bid is lodged is final. Subject to clause 17.2, all Bids lodged after the Closing Time will be recorded by the DBSA and will only be opened for the purposes of identifying a business name and address of the Bidder. The DBSA will inform a Bidder whose Bid was lodged after the Closing Time of its ineligibility for consideration. The general operating practice is for the late Bid to be returned within 5 (five) working days of receipt or within 5 (five) working days after determination not to accept a late Bid.

The submission of such certificates must comply with the requirements of instructions and guidelines issued by National Treasury and be in accordance with the applicable notices published by the Department of Trade and Industry in the Government Gazette.

19.3 Unnecessarily elaborate responses or other representations beyond that which is sufficient to present a complete and effective tender proposal are not desired or required. Elaborate and expensive visual and other presentation aids are not necessary.

19.4 Where the Bidder is unwilling to accept a specified condition, the non-acceptance must be clearly and expressly stated. Prominence must be given to the statement detailing the non-acceptance. It is not sufficient that the statement appears only as part of an attachment to the Bid or be included in a general statement of the Bidders usual operating conditions.

19.5 An incomplete Bid may be disqualified or assessed solely on the information completed or received with the Bid.

20. ILLEGIBLE CONTENT, ALTERATION AND ERASURES

20.1 Incomplete Bids may be disqualified or evaluated solely on information contained in the Bid.

20.2 The DBSA may disregard any content in a Tender that is illegible and will be under no obligation whatsoever to seek clarification from the Bidder.

20.3 The DBSA may permit a Bidder to correct an unintentional error in its Bid where that error becomes known or apparent after the Closing Time, but in no event will any correction be permitted if the DBSA reasonably considers that the correction would materially alter the substance of the Bid or effect the fairness of the Tendering Process.

21. OBLIGATION TO NOTIFY ERRORS

TERMS OF REFERENCE AND SCOPE OF WORK

1. INTRODUCTION

The Development Bank of Southern Africa (DBSA) and Agence Française de Développement (AFD) have a long history of working in partnership, the innovation space has been a key area of collaboration and knowledge sharing, which fosters collaboration on opportunities around sustainable innovation projects implemented by the DBSA.

In the context of the current discussions around the Just Energy Transition (JET), the DFIs have a significant role to play both in terms of its financing and its implementation. In alignment with their mandate to promote sustainable development, both the DBSA and the AFD are supporting the South African partners in their efforts to diversify the economy away from fossil fuels while ensuring the livelihoods of the most vulnerable.

AFD was a pivotal thought partner in the ideation phase of the DLAB Programme. This partnership fosters the collaboration on opportunities around sustainable innovation projects implemented by the DBSA. The DLAB Precinct Model was ideated and then launched by DBSA in 2019 with the Programme moving into implementation in 2020. Since the start of the pilot phase in 2020, work has begun on nine sites which are in different stages of implementation across seven of South Africa's nine Provinces.

The DLAB Programme has been positioned as a platform that can support in delivering the “Just” component of the JET, especially in the Mpumalanga province. This has resulted in the DBSA exploring the feasibility for a tenth DBLAB site in the region.

The DLAB Programme requires a suitable service provider to conduct the research activities to rationalize and assess the feasibility of creating a new DLAB in the Municipality of Nkangala (Mpumalanga) for the implementation of a DLAB site in the area. This will involve assessing the prospects for job creation, identifying sectors and opportunities for young people within the community.

2. BACKGROUND AND CONTEXT

South Africa has significant structural vulnerabilities inherited from the apartheid period. These are manifold and are characterized by high levels of inequality in all its forms, poverty and unemployment. The Covid-19 crisis affected the labour market, destroying over 2 million jobs, particularly among young people. The gradual recovery of the labour market has not yet restored pre-pandemic levels, nor corrected the structural weaknesses of the South African labour market (one in three South Africans is unemployed, over 60% of young people are unemployed, 13% of jobs are informal). In addition to tackling these social vulnerabilities, we need to address the challenge of energy transition and its social acceptability. This is particularly true if the gradual abandonment of carbon-based production systems and associated jobs exacerbates poverty and inequality, especially as the distribution of future jobs in the context of the low-carbon transition of the economy will be established in differentiated sectors and territories.

The just transition in South Africa must be transformative, in the sense that it involves supporting workers in occupations exposed to the risk of transition, as well as restructuring a more equitable development model that corrects historical inequalities. The country has developed its own vision of the just transition, set out in the Just Transition Framework, which is consistent with a transformative approach and based on three principles: (i) distributive justice, (ii) restorative justice and (iii) procedural justice).

Implementing the three components of the just transition in South Africa requires the involvement of all players, including public development banks. The Development Bank of South Africa (DBSA) is committed to responding to the country's multiple social vulnerabilities by implementing a structuring program for "community empowerment" (the third conceptual principle of just transition), which this project proposes to support.

The DLAB Programme is a South African approach to provide meaningful access to opportunity pathways and the delivery of economic activities for youth, through empowering and catalysing community-based economic development and large-scale sustainable development in a manner that is inclusive. The goal is to unlock the potential of human creativity and innovation, as well as invest in the partnerships that make an impact livelihood.

The evolution of the DLAB Programme has been anchored on the idea that social infrastructure will significantly alleviate socio-economic challenges at a community level. Within the context of the Programme, a DLAB is that of a community-based common space that stimulates and catalyses sustainable economic activity inflows and capacitate youth to increase their potential for employment and with broader economic access. The delivery on the vision is through the construction of the physical DLAB social infrastructure, where programme services are run, access to opportunity pathways and benefit from economic activities, as well as social upliftment. The Programme creates pivotal linkages between a vast network of key partners to implement, operate and facilitate this over the lifetime of DLABs.

The DLAB Programme has a set of core objectives that map out what the Programme sets out to achieve. They create tangible goals that ensure community-based value creation and sustainability.

1. Drive community development to stimulate economic development in the DLAB Programme and within the Precinct.
2. Establish an economic engine within every DLAB to ensure the sustainability of each DLAB.
3. Prioritise the delivery and implementation on key programme offerings and pathways to economic opportunities, across high growth sectors.
4. Provide access to opportunities that exist within the DLAB ecosystem.
5. Create safe spaces for youth participation and access support systems.
6. Stimulate early child development streams.
7. Build people resilience and overall well-being.
8. Mobilise community participation.
9. Establish a structure (or vehicle) that allows the Programme to be duplicatable and scalable in a manner that is sustainable.
10. Establish a multi-stakeholder oversight structure to fulfil a strategic advisory function.
11. Convene partnerships across the various levels of delivery streams.
12. Position the DLAB Programme to support the Just Transition.
13. Consistency, standards, and oversight for accelerating implementation

The DLABs are designed to provide communities with training and skills for the future, as well as job readiness and youth employment opportunities presented across the programme offerings. It also encourages micro-entrepreneurship and brings real jobs to townships and peri-urban areas. Furthermore, the DLABs create safe spaces for sports, art and recreation that are accessible to local schools, and promote health and wellbeing through access to basic healthcare and psychosocial skills.

These common spaces reinvent access through a system that is inclusive and financially sustainable. This means that each sustainable DLAB is supported by an economic engine that propels economic growth upward from the community level through initiatives that generate revenue while retaining the wealth created for the benefit of the community.

The DLAB Programme has been in pilot phase since 2020 post the DLAB concept approval in 2019. The implementation of the Programme is currently in its fourth year, with five DLAB Precincts operating across four of South Africa's provinces. An additional four Precincts have been approved by the DBSA for investment, which will expand the DLABs footprint across seven provinces. These nine pilot sites are intended to shape the operating model and hone the efficiencies around implementation and sustainability
